

Dear Teachers and Fellow Schoolmates,

I have said many times in different occasions that the students are the “pillars of society” and the balanced and all-round education should be the silver thread running through all the policies of departments, teams and subjects with the aim to nurture the next generation to contribute to our community, our city and our nation. I believe that over the past twenty more days, you can tell how hardworking, committed and zealous our teachers are to get you well-equipped with knowledge and skills for applications in your career paths.

In order to make sure that our whole family of S.C. Gaw can be progressing positively to be a learning community, we have fully developed the major concerns and this “kick-off”, launching ceremony targets at raising your awareness of the expectations of the school upon you. I would like again to pay tribute to the teachers for their energy and determination provided for the growth of all our schoolmates.

- To strengthen classroom interactive learning and teaching to achieve effective learning
You can see how our teachers are using the e-Whiteboards to enhance their teaching effectiveness and to facilitate your understanding of a wide range of complicated and abstract knowledge. I can assure you that all the teachers are exploring and learning how to use the e-Whiteboards whole-heartedly since they hope that you can benefit from their teaching to the fullest.

- To optimize curriculum planning of inter-disciplinary subjects to enhance EMI teaching effectiveness and students’ English Language competence
You can witness how our teachers are working in collaboration to establish the language-rich environment for you. My dear fellow schoolmates, please take every golden opportunity to participate in all kinds of English activities to improve your language proficiency.

- To establish multi-disciplinary platform to cultivate sense of belonging and nurture all-round potentials.
I am so delighted to have observed total involvement of the majority of schoolmates in different facets of activities on campus. My fellow schoolmates, don’t be shy and enjoy the colorful and fruitful school life during your adolescent period.

I truthfully hope that our school can lay a healthy environment for all the schoolmates to show care and concern for yourselves, your families, your teachers and your friends.
